

Do you deliver cultural competency training?

Hackney CVS is creating a directory of cultural competency training available in City and Hackney.

Included training should be:

- delivered by organisations or individuals that reflect the diversity of City and Hackney.
- available too, and/or delivered by the voluntary or community service (VCS)/Council/NHS/wider public services

Training can be for all age groups, demographics and job roles.

Why are we doing this?

- The mandate for this directory has come out of the VCS Assembly on Racial Equality in October 2021.
- The directory is important as it will support front line delivery and public services to provide culturally competent services.

This will help prevent the re-traumatisation of residents and service users and work towards an anti-racist Hackney and City.

If you deliver training or know an organisation that do, we would love to talk to you.

Please email may@hcvcs.org.uk to get in contact!

Topics that relevant training may cover:

- race as a construct (based on reverse discourse theory)
- anti-racism
- equality, diversity and inclusion
- positive and uniting language
- bias
- microaggressions
- ally-ship and inclusive leadership
- reflecting on meetings for any biases expressed
- the importance of self-identity and power
- how structural racism manifests and impacts our communities
